

Senior Consultant – Scientific Advisor

We are seeking an executive level consultant with a high level of scientific knowledge as well as practical business knowledge in the biotech/pharmaceutical industry to provide consultative and project-level expertise to our management team.

Location: San Diego, CA

Status: 1099 Contractor

Tasks and Responsibilities:

- Provide guidance and expertise in the development of new compounds by managing and interacting with chemistry and screening contractors.
- Interact with and provide guidance to contract structural biology services (X-ray analysis) and computational modeling contract services.
- Take an active role in the generation and preparation of new patent applications covering composition of matter and methods of use.
- Provide high level scientific / strategic guidance on business decisions related to partnerships, licensing and other business opportunities.
- Draft or contribute to drafting high-level scientific and/or commercial documents such as press releases, white papers, business plans, etc.

Preferred educational background and skill required:

- PhD in Chemistry, Medicinal Chemistry or similar field
- 20+ years in the biopharmaceutical industry
- 10+ years of experience in the strategic business side of public biotech companies of various sizes and phases of development

Knowledge, Skills and Attributes:

- Proven ability to multi-task and prioritize.
- Well-organized, detail-oriented, possess a sense of urgency
- Team-oriented with very good communication and interpersonal skills.
- Excellent computer skills in the following programs: MS Outlook, MS Word, PowerPoint, Excel, and WebEx.

Special Considerations

Some travel may be required to sites or to study-related meeting.